

Sarah O'Donnell

Letter of Recommendation 2

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to highly recommend Sarah O'Donnell for admission to your esteemed institution. As her 10th-grade Geometry teacher, I had the opportunity to observe her engagement with the subject matter and her dedication to her studies.

Sarah is a young woman of many talents. While her academic performance is commendable, what sets her apart is her commitment to community service. Sarah has been actively involved in volunteering at local animal shelters, demonstrating her compassionate nature and her ability to balance a demanding academic schedule with extracurricular activities.

Her values of kindness and patience are evident both in and out of the classroom. When working in group projects or class activities, Sarah consistently displayed strong interpersonal skills and emotional intelligence. She was often the "glue" that held her groups together, mediating discussions and ensuring everyone's voice was heard.

Another area where Sarah excels is in her appreciation of cultural heritage. She comes from a family of educators, giving her a balanced perspective on the importance of academics. She also collects vintage postcards, connecting her to different places and times. This interest speaks to a broader intellectual curiosity and an openness to diverse perspectives, which I believe will enrich her future academic community.

To me, what is most impressive about Sarah is her well-rounded character. She is intellectually curious but also kind, diligent but also patient, academically focused but also deeply committed to her community and her values. It is this balance that I believe will make Sarah a highly valuable member of any academic institution.

I give my highest recommendation for Sarah O'Donnell and am confident that she will exceed your expectations as a student at your university.

Sincerely,
Sarah's 10th Grade Geometry Teacher
